I help boards and business leaders turn complex commercial evidence into clear, defensible decisions at the moments that matter most. A former international software executive, including Hyperion from IPO to $500m global scale and Informatica, with over 20 years of independent commercial advisory work, I bring rigorous independent judgement, close attention to the underlying commercial signal and constructive challenge. I am brought in when situations are complex, the cost of getting it wrong is high, and a board needs clarity on what matters, what the evidence means and what to do next.

NON EXECUTIVE

Independent commercial judgement and governance for SMEs and mid-market businesses.

Board Roles

Non-Executive Director

BRITANNIA GARMENT PACKAGING • UK • 2013–2016

Chaired the board, strengthened governance, and guided three years of growth for an international manufacturer.

- Introduced stronger governance across finance, risk management, and performance oversight — providing the independent challenge that kept management focused on what mattered.
- Guided three successive years of balance-sheet growth: winning major new retail clients, opening new markets, and strengthening the international partner and supplier network.
- Mentored the CEO, building the commercial confidence and judgement to sustain improvements independently.

Independent Advisory

Independent Commercial Advisor

UK • 2020–PRESENT

Supporting senior leaders through growth, succession, and major transitions.

- Providing independent commercial counsel to founders, CEOs and senior leaders — called on when someone needs an honest, direct view with no agenda other than getting to the right answer.
- Equally comfortable as a sounding board, a challenging voice when a plan needs stress-testing, or a steady guide through a difficult decision or transition.

Independent Commercial & Strategy Advisor

GOLDSBROUGH CONSULTING LTD • UK, EUROPE, USA • 2003–2019

Independent commercial assessment and challenge across 50+ organisations.

- Conducted rigorous independent commercial assessments — from early-stage start-ups to multi-million-pound firms — delivering clear findings including where conclusions were uncomfortable for management or owners.
- Worked across technology, finance, health, education, and manufacturing in the UK, Europe, and USA, engaging with diverse ownership structures including founder-led, PE-backed, and family businesses.
- Translated independent findings into tangible improvements: clients became more focused, more profitable, and operationally stronger — achieving growth, improved stability, or successful transitions under pressure.

EXECUTIVE

Senior international leadership in enterprise software, data management and systems integration, spanning product direction, customer engagement and commercial growth.

European Marketing Director

INFORMATICA • EUROPE • 2001–2003

- Brought on board this data management software company to build and scale European marketing. Hired and led high-performing teams across multiple countries covering marketing communications and lead generation.
- Personally led media and analyst engagement across Europe, doubling positive media coverage and building market credibility for Informatica's newer product portfolio. Achieved 150% of lead generation targets across the region.

Vice President Marketing, EMEA

HYPERION • UK, USA, EUROPE • 1989–2000

- Joined as Head of UK Professional Services, transforming customer engagement into a best-practice model adopted by worldwide distributors. Responsible for customer contracts and maximising software licence renewal income.
- Selected by the CEO to relocate to global HQ in Connecticut, heading product marketing for core products, with direct involvement in product direction and M&A decisions.
- Returned to Europe as VP Marketing EMEA, building and leading a pan-European team spanning product marketing, competitive intelligence, and marketing communications.
- Played a central role throughout the full journey from a 50-person sector underdog through IPO in 1991 and on to a $500m global market leader, with deep inside knowledge of how enterprise software businesses scale commercially and organisationally.
